

We Help you

comply with Corporate social responsibility

Social Audit is a management tool and process conducted to evaluate and determine the social, economic and environmental benefits and restrictions and whereby an organisation can account for its social performance, report on and improve that performance.

It provides an assessment of the impact of an organization's Non-Financial objectives through systematically and regularly monitoring its performance and the views of its stakeholders. It is particularly useful for non-profit organizations because of the importance of their social objectives.

We can enhance your organization capacity to:

- Evaluate their impact on stakeholders
- Determine how well they are living up to the values they espouse.
- Improve their strategic planning process by identifying potential problems before they come up; and
- Increase their accountability to the groups they serve and depend on.
- Assess the physical and financial gaps between needs and resources.

- Increase efficacy and effectiveness
- Scrutinize various policy decisions, interests and priorities
- Enhancing governance and strengthening transparency in local bodies.

Most people will agree that understanding the end-user experience is beneficial, but ironically many companies don't have the right tools to perform adequate end-user monitoring. We at Pinkerton review the Pre disbursement & Post disbursement financial review of the organization which includes Review of audit report, Compliance status, Legal status, Governance structure and various procedures (including project expense approval, recording and monitoring).
